Keynote Speaker : Bishop Crispian Hollis

We are pleased to announce that Crispian Hollis, Bishop of Portsmouth, has agreed to speak at the 2005 Summer School. Bishop Hollis is a Patron of the Society and is a great proponent of evangelisation and mission.

Directors and Workshop Leaders now confirmed, plus an additional workshop...

The 2005 Summer School boasts the usual full programme of talks, workshops and liturgical celebrations – as well as opportunities for rest, recollection and socialising. By popular demand, the Choral Society will feature again, led by Nick Baty, who promises an entertaining selection of music. The workshops are designed to promote understanding, and to develop skills and experience to enable you better to serve your parish community, whatever your particular ministry.

The focus for 2005 is mission and evangelisation, and this will be explored in the key note talks and developed through our liturgies during the week. As Mgr Boylan says in Music and Liturgy Vol30 No 4, 'A truly effective liturgy should be evident... in the way that it actually fulfils the mission of the Church.'

If you have never been to a Summer School before, you will find it a rich and rewarding experience. It is educational and thought-provoking and provides a special opportunity share ideas and experiences with others.

Summer School Directors...

We are delighted to confirm that Catherine Christmas will direct the music and Fr Aidan Rossiter the liturgy at the 2005 Summer School.

Workshops...

- Choral Singing (Darquise Bilodeau) – enhancing the assembly's prayer through song; enhancing your singing through prayer
- Instrumental Improvisation (Ray D'Inverno) – exploring your creativity
- Composition (Paul Inwood) – for those already writing for the liturgy
- From Keyboard to Organ (Stephen Bryant) – when pianists hit the pedals
- For Young People – a workshop of liturgy and music, especially for younger delegates (from 12 to 18 years) For more information about this workshop, contact Mary Rouse (01926 778402, or by e-mail: mary.rouse@ssg.org.uk)
- Celebrating Milestones (Allen Morris, Liturgy Office) – how we minister to those celebrating births, marriage, and other 'public' occasions and how we make the most of these opportunities
- Living the Word (Caroline Dollard) – accessing the scriptures
- Web building (Paul Wellicome) – a beginner's guide. Design a parish web site that is informative and useful, and reaches out to others
- NEW – For Music Directors and those planning liturgy (Nick Baty) – a guide to effective focused planning and practical tips

Plus... Bookshop – Bar – Traditional social events
